HUDSON BROKE A BONE

When He Assaulted a Wells-ville Woman.

BRUTALLY BEATEN IN A STREET

She Cried For Help and the Man Was Arrested—Rumor Said It Was Murder. But the Attack Resulted in a Badly Disfigured Woman and a Fractured Shoulder.

The city was startled this morning by the rumor, heard everywhere and discussed by everyone, that a woman had been murdered in Wellsville and her mangled body thrown over the bank into the river.

Where the murder part of the story originated no man can tell, but the whole story found foundation in a brutal assault which occurred last night. Minnie Rudy, the unfortunate victim, was assaulted on Second street by Joe Hudson and so badly hurt that she was carried home. It appears that the two quarreled earlier in the evening in a saloon, and when Hudson met the woman again he struck her in the face. This seemed to give him renewed desire for his brutal amusement, and amid the shrieks of the unfortunate woman the fight proceeded. Hudson is believed to have kicked his victim repeatedly as her body was covered with bruises. The woman cried so loudly that a number of persons ran to her assistance. Hudson was taken to jail, and attention paid his victim. Her face was beaten out of all semblance to its former self, her shoulder bone was broken, and many bruises about her shoulders were painful witnesses of the ferocity of the attack. It is not thought that Hudson used any weapon other than those given him by nature.

Hudson is a well known character in Wellsville, and his victim has not lived with her husband for some time. She is in a dangerous condition.

R. W. Taylor's Canvass.

R. W. Taylor is making speeches every night in Stark county, and the crowds flocking to hear him are as great as they were the first week of the canvass. On Saturday he will speak in Alliance, and in the afternoon will hold a mass meeting at Beloit. Tuesday night he talked at Navarre, and last night at Middlebranch. He handles the questions of the day in a fearless, able manner, being fair and comprehensive in all that he says. His campaign work is in marked contrast to what his Democratic opponent is doing.

Captured a Thief.

A boy, whose age is in the immediate vicinity of 14 years, picked up a basket of grapes at Thompson's grocery, Washington street, last evening, and walked away as though he had paid for them. Some one in the store saw the thief, and notified T. Thompson, who started in pursuit. He caught the youth on Market street and compelled him to return the grapes, making the youngster believe that he would be arrested. He decided, however, to let the boy go after he had made numerous promises never to repeat the act.

May Not Materialize.

A prominent business man stated last evening that the electrical project which has caused some stir during the past week may not materialize just now. The proposed stockholders have difficulty in seeing just where the return will come from a large expenditure for machinery and a structure. The idea was to construct an electric light plant in the city, and provide light to stockholders and other customers at a low rate. It will be remembered that the idea was discussed over a year ago.

A Wellsville Story.

Rumors have been floating about in Wellsville that Alma Walters, whose testimony in the McGregor case is expected to prove valuable, was found in Canada the other day. It is needless to say that such a statement is about as senseless as the one published by a local sheet to the effect that the authorities do not know where she is at the present time.

Woman's Relief Corps.

Yesterday afternoon was the occasion of the annual inspection of the organization of this city. A large number of members were in attendance to greet Mrs. Edwards, of Salem, inspecting officer. Local president, Mrs. Williamson, occupied the chair. Mrs. Edwards spoke in terms of warm praise of the standing and condition of General Lyon corps, No. 46, stating that the corps is in first class order, in every particular. Mrs. Edwards inspected the Wellsville corps last night.

Society Events.

Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson will entertain this evening at their home in Thompson place.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Thompson for tomorrow evening.

The Phoenix club will open the new club rooms to their friends some evening next week. A musical program will consume the earlier hours, and dancing will take up the time after lunch.

An Old Story.

Those who pretend to know say that the Tiltonville pottery troubles have been settled and work will begin the latter part of the week. It is to be hoped that on this occasion the report is true, as the people of this city have always manifested an interest in the sanitary town, but so many rumors have been heard that there is little likelihood of this one being received until it is known that men are actually at work.

Boat News.

The Bedford is now running between Cincinnati and Manchester and doing a big business.

The new steamer which the Pittsburgh & Cincinnati packet line contemplates building will be the finest on western waters.

Not one boat that left Pittsburgh on the last rise has been able to get back, and the prospects for them returning soon are not by any means bright.

CLARKSON NOTES.

Miss Lou Bown is spending a few weeks with friends of East Liverpool.

Miss Vina Cavitt, of Jefferson county, is visiting relatives of this place at present.

Lewis Vale, of Washington City, visited his nephew, Dr. A. G. Vale, of this place, last week.

Mrs. W. H. Owen spent a few days of last week with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Eaton, of Pittsburg.

The marriage of Mr. Charles Fitzsimmon and Miss Henry, daughter of J. Frank Henry, of Azelda, took place last Wednesday evening.

J. B. Bell and family are pleasantly located in the village of Franklinville, Md., where Mr. Bell is engaged as book-keeper and business manager.

Arthur and Chalmers Lyon, two steady Presbyterian young men of New Waterford, attended Sabbath school at the Presbyterian church here yesterday.

The pastoral relation existing between Rev. E. H. Machlin and the Presbyterian church of this place, has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Machlin is an earnest consecrated minister, and he and his wife carry with them to their new home the prayers and best wishes of every earnest Christian member of the church at Clarkson for a grander field of useful and greater success.

A celebration was held at the residence of Mr. Ira Gaston on Saturday in honor of the long connection of his mother, Mrs. Jane Gaston, and aunt, Miss Sarah Glenn, with the Presbyterian church, which has existed for 61 years, they having united with the old Presbyterian church of Middle Beaver under the pastorate of Rev. Robert Dilworth. Fifty-five years ago the old church was sold to the Methodist Episcopal class which had formed at Middle Beaver and the present location of the Presbyterian church of this place was taken. There were present 150 guests. Mr. Ed. Louthan in a few fitting words gave the address of welcome. The dinner was all that could be desired. The pleasant fires in grates and stoves of the tasteful and commodious residence made good cheer abound, despite the chill of the coming frost. The day was a grand one, never to be forgotten; the secret of it, everyone brought to the celebration their best selves; laid aside all selfish thought and consideration. These two, whose lives of 81 and 83 years have been spent amidst the scenes of the past, so strange and hard and self-denying, and who have been accustomed to attend the regular service of the church and to mingle in society, are now shut in and away, and they like David hunger for the courts of the living God. Let the church not forget them. They have no other want or desire ungratified but that of the presence sometimes of the relative or friend or neighbor that comes not. William Glenn, a brother and wife and George Gaston and wife, of East Liverpool, were among the guests.

Races for the Future.

Respectfully,

EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—Bob Maxwell will run Lou Hendricks 50 yards for $50. Signed

Lost His Finger.

While working at the McNicol pottery this afternoon, Charles Martin, of Jackson street, was caught when a bung of ware fell and as a result it minus a portion of a finger. The member was so badly mashed that Doctor Toot decided to amputate it at the second joint. It is the second finger of the left hand, and caused the unfortunate man great pain before the amputation.

Will Pay for the Window.

A number of small boys, who have been violating the law by playing ball in Washington street, were captured by George Wells yesterday afternoon and taken before the mayor. They were charged with breaking a window in the Wells building, but the prosecutor decided to withdraw the charge if the frightened youngsters paid for the damage they had wrought.

The Meeting Postponed.

Owing to sickness the meeting of the committee composed of members of Company E and other citizens to look over a rifle range was not held, but postponed until the company meeting tomorrow night, when a date will probably be set.

Lecture Course Tickets.

Secretary Morris is busy at the Young Men's Christian association rooms today superintending the distribution of the handsome amusement cards put out by the News Review for the lecture course. Tickets will be placed on sale at once as the committee are anxious to have them in the hands of the public as soon as possible.

Whipped His Wife.

Chief Gill arrested Joe Jackson last night, and locked him up on a charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife. When Mayor Gilbert inquired into the matter Joe decided that he was guilty, and was fined $10 and the usual costs. As he did not have the money he was permitted to repose in jail until it could be secured. The arrest was made because Jackson had whipped his wife, and the partner of his joys and sorrows decided to have no more of it.

Not Dangerously Ill.

Mrs. Anna Coleclough, of Thompson hill, is confined to her home by illness.

Mrs. John Huffman, who has been very ill at her home on Broadway, is better.

Miss Shives is suffering from an attack of fever at her home in California hollow.

Paid For a Drunk.

John Wintergill was drunk when he attempted to convince Third street yesterday afternoon that he was monarch of all he surveyed. He was holding that part of the city as personal property, when Constable Lyons appeared to dispute his claim. As a result of that appearance John contributed $5.00 for the maintenance of good government in the city.

Will Sell the Goods.

On an execution issued in Squire Manley's court Constable Lyons on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock will sell the tailoring outfit of D. G. Thomas and J. G. Reese, at McLean's shop on Broadway. The execution was issued on a judgment secured by Mrs. Ida McLean against Thomas and Reese some time ago for a board bill amounting to $42.75.

May Be All Right.

The work of excavation under the building adjoining the central fire station may yet be completed without it being necessary to erect a retaining wall to prevent damage to the station. A wall of tough clay now proves ample support and soon the foundation will have been laid around it. Despite this the matter is still one of doubt.

THE CHECK WAS BOGUS

A Man Named Ford Gets an Endorsement.

BUT THE OTHER MAN WAS CUTE

And He Only Made a Few Dollars—The Paper Was Drawn on a Mantua Bank. But The Cashier Protested It A Local Saloonist the Only Loser.

A week ago today a check drawn on Crofts, Hine & Co., bankers, of Mantua, by E. Turner in favor of E. G. Ford, was placed in the hands of Ira E. Hine for protest. The check bore the endorsement of E. G. Ford and Owen Cannon, and had passed through the First National bank of this city, and the Central National, of Cleveland. Protest was ordered because the signature looked like a forgery. Turner happened to be away from home at the time, but has since returned, and says that the bank was right in protesting. The blank was taken from Turner's check book and the bit of paper seemed to disclose the fact that the man who made out the check and endorsed in the name of E. G. Ford was one and the same individual. Word from Mantua says that about three weeks ago a young man giving his name as Ford worked for Turner a day or two and slept in the office at night. It is thought there that the checks were taken from the book at that time.

The story as it goes at this end of the incident shows that a man giving his name as Ford was in town, and spent part of his time about Cannon's saloon. One day he approached Cannon with the request for an endorsement, but the liquor man was not to be caught so easily. He gave the endorsement but reserved the greater part of the money until he should hear from the check which was drawn for $42.50. A few dollars were handed over to the stranger. Then he disappeared, and Cannon is out the price of protest and the amount given Ford.

The young man is said to have been an easy talker, and made friends by his genial manner. Beyond what he told of himself nothing his known here, and his whereabouts at present make a mystery.

Will Lecture Tonight.

Father O'Brien will lecture in the St. Aloysius church tonight arrived this afternoon from Akron, where he lectured last night. In yesterday's issue of the News Review an unfortunate error made the announcement read "all Catholics will be welcome" when it should have been "non-Catholics will be welcome."

Had a Time.

It is whispered about in the vicinity of Smoky Row that a certain house was the scene of disgraceful actions in which some baseballists participated Tuesday night. They escaped arrest, however, and departed from the city in a dilapidated condition the next morning.

An Afternoon Reception.

Mrs. T. F. Anderson and Mrs. T. B. Anderson assisted by Mrs. Doctor Locke, Barnesville, Mrs. W. L. Standish, Sewickley and Mrs. A. M. Arnold, East End, Pittsburg, entertained a number of ladies at their pleasant home in the East End yesterday afternoon.

Use Their Own Scenery.

The Spider and the Fly, the famous spectacular performance, which appears at the Grand next Monday evening, will use all their own scenery, the entire lot of opera house scenery being removed from the stage.

The Festive Carbucl.

Cross Kerr has been laid up for several days with an immense carbuncle on his right hand and so serious is it proving that he will probably be unable to work for several weeks.

In Durance Ville.

Brown, Beaumont and Stewart, the men who have become known in the city because of various escapades, have been unable to have their differences settled with the law, and are still in jail.

East Liverpool Talent.

A musicale was given at city hall in Wellsville last evening, and attended by a large crowd. Among those who took part in the program was Mrs. Griffiths-Dix of this city.

Brought Down Limbs.

The heavy wind which blew last night tore a large limb from one of the trees in front of Ike Crable's house, on Market street, and did other slight damage in the city.

COLUMBIANA county should poll a heavy Republican majority this year. Get out the vote.

Good reports come from the meetings of R. W. Taylor. Everywhere he is heard by large crowds who enthusiastically greet him as the next congressman.

If the Democrats do not soon make a move in this district there are those who will believe that Coxe is a Bourbon side-show intent upon keeping votes from Taylor.

PROFESSOR WILSON, politician and free trader, is making some remarkable statements in his canvass. It will not be surprising if he asserts after a while that the moon is made of green cheese.

It would be refreshing to hear of a Columbiana county farmer who has sold his wool during the present administration at an advance over the rates obtained when Harrison was president.

CONGRESSMAN WILSON or the English papers prevaricate about the speech he made before the London chamber of commerce, and it really seems as though Willie had lost his memory while crossing the Atlantic.

THE newspaper man who shamefully abuses a merchant because he refuses to advertise in his worthless paper, stoops lower than the mendicant who searches the ash barrel for a livelihood. Both are objects of charity, the one with intelligence, and therefore the more to be despised by an appreciative public.

CLEAN THE STREETS.

The streets of the city are unclean. Nay they are worse, they are filthy. Day after day dirt has been gathering, and the little heaps of a few weeks ago have increased in size until they could well be numbered with mole hills of no mean proportions. They are unsightly and disagreeable. They cause strangers to wonder at the thoughtlessness of the city, and spread the opinion that East Liverpool has departed from its doctrine of cleanliness, and turned to that which ignores the cleaning of streets and the purification of gutters.

The cause for this can be found in the system in use, and until that is eradicated and new ideas injected the streets can never be economically but thoroughly cleaned. A city with the population of East Liverpool can not expect to keep the streets well cleaned with manual labor and a shovel. The cost is too great. When there are abundant rains the hill streets are well washed, but when in a season like the present this influence is lacking, the gutters become filled with filth and the roadway covered with unsightly and unsavory accumulations. A sweeper would keep the streets clean at a cost less than is at present endured, and would in all probability do it with more satisfaction to the public. Commissioner Welch can not clean every street in town thoroughly with the number of men allowed by council, although there are none to say that, with the material placed at his command, he could do better. To keep the streets clean the city needs the inculcation of advanced ideas, methods especially adapted to well paved streets.

THE LAST OF CURTIN.

His Remains Interred For the Long, Long Sleep.

DISTINGUISHED MEN MOURNERS.

Touching Addresses Made at the Memorial Meeting by Governor Pattison and Others—Thousands Viewed the Remains. The Funeral Cortège.

BELLEFOURTE, Pa., Oct. 11.—The remains of Andrew Gregg Curtin are now in their last resting place.

A great number of distinguished men were present at the memorial meeting held in the courthouse. Touching addresses were made by Colonel Mann of Philadelphia, Governor Pattison, ex-Senator John Scott of Philadelphia, A. K. McClure of Philadelphia, ex-Senator Wallace, Hon. John Bailey of Huntington and General J. P. S. Gobin of Lebanon. Tears dimmed the eyes of nearly all the speakers, and their voices were husky with emotion as they alluded to the name of one so dear who had but a few hours before passed away.

The ex-governor's body was borne from the family residence to the courthouse, where it remained for over an hour, until thousands of people viewed the remains while they lay in state. The body was then taken back to the Gregg mansion, where the funeral services were held. The casket was of red cedar, covered with black broadcloth, lined with black satin; the plate containing only the name, "Andrew Gregg Curtin."

The funeral cortège was as follows: Military escort, consisting of battery of artillery, troop of cavalry and nine companies of infantry, special escort of G. A. R. in carriage; the honorary pallbearers, consisting of Governor Pattison, John Dean, John Scott, ex-Senator Wallace, General Beaver, General Hastings, General Taylor of Philadelphia, A. K. McClure, Colonel W. B. Mann, Judge Furst, Morton McMichael, Judge Craig Biddle, Thomas Collins and E. C. Humes; the bearers and carriers; family and friends; representatives of Pennsylvania Reserve association; representatives of the Union League; general officers of the N. G. P.; governor's staff and staffs of the general officers of the national guard; representatives of the Center County Veterans' association; battalion of Pennsylvania State college cadets; president and members of the town council of Bellefonte, and the citizens.

At the grave the simple and impressive ritual of the Grand Army was read over the coffin, the burial service being conducted by the comrades of Gregg Post. At its close the customary salute was fired over the open grave, and thus the grand old man was buried.

HONORS TO HOLMES' MEMORY.

Prominent People Attend or Send Tributes at His Funeral.

BOSTON, Oct. 11.—A small gathering of loving friends and a few words of impressive import from the lips of a life-long companion and co-worker, marked the simple rites over the body of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes at King's Chapel. The procession bearing the body of the deceased poet filed into the church with Mr. Edward Everett Hale at its head. Upon the casket rested a laurel wreath which nearly covered it. Another laurel wreath hung from the balcony in the chapel, while back of the altar were in flower the flowers of the season.

The Bohemian club of San Francisco sent a large basket of white chrysanthemums with maiden hair fern. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe sent a wreath of pansies and maiden hair fern, a wreath of palms, violets and orchids bore the name of Fred Stenson, the theatrical manager, while the university class of '87 of Oxford college, O., sent a handsome bunch of lilies of the valley. The pallbearers, who were members of the family, were C. J. and R. T. Paine, J. J. Morse, Jr., E. R. Morse, C. J. Morse, J. Jackson, C. S. Storrow, F. S. Higginson and C. C. Jackson.

The services consisted of a few recitations from the Scripture, by Dr. Hale, and selections by the quartet. There was no eulogy. Among those present were: Rev. G. Arbutnot of the vicarage of Stratford-on-Avon, England, representing the trustees of Shakespeare's birth place; Lieutenant Governor Roger Walcott, Rev. Samuel May and Rev. S. F. Smith, author of the hymn "America," both classmates of Dr. Holmes in Harvard; William Lloyd Garrison, Charles Follen Adams, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, Judge Allan Barker, Judge John Holmes, Judge Ebenezer Howe and Dr. Eliot of Harvard. There were 22 carriages in the procession that accompanied the body to Mount Auburn, the place of interment.

U. S. Marshal Vincent Resigns.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—S. S. Vincent, United States marshal of the District of West Virginia, at the request of the attorney general, has resigned, and A. D. Carden has been appointed to the vacancy. In September last Vincent and several deputies were present at a political meeting at Wayne, W. Va. At the conclusion of an address which did not please him, Vincent arose to apply, whereupon many of the audience left the hall. This seemed to have angered Vincent and an altercation arose, which culminated in an affray, during which one man was killed and three others wounded. The marshal and his deputies were arrested and are under bond to await the action of the grand jury. Complaints were made against him.

Women's Campaign in New York.

New York, Oct. 11.—The great campaign of the women against Tammany hall and municipal corruption will open tomorrow afternoon. Many of New York's most fashionable, most influential and richest women have been enlisted in the cause. The first meeting will be held on Friday at 3 p. m., at Association hall where Dr. Parkhurst will deliver an address.

Corbett and Fitzsimmons to Confer.

New York, Oct. 11.—A conference is to be held today to arrange preliminaries for the Corbett-Fitzsimmons match. New Orleans representatives to be present.

READY TO MURDER.

A Policeman Threatens to Kill Lexow Committee Witnesses.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—For the third time since the Lexow investigation commenced Chief Council Goff produced evidence to show that threats have been made to put an end to witnesses who have appeared before the senators conducting the examination. Samuel Kaufman, a tailor's salesman, said he heard Policeman Corcoran assert that he would "make those witnesses as dead as a door nail," and that he would "lay for them some dark night." The witnesses supposed to be referred to were Quinn and a friend. By those persons Corcoran was accused of being a "clubber." The policeman with Corcoran had advised him not to talk so loud, and told him to wait until the Lexow committee had finished its investigations before making the attempt.

Patrick Kelly, an ironworker, testified that Policeman Schroeder had picked his pocket while he lay asleep, taking 50 cents. V. H. Brown, agent for the Cunard Steamship company, said his company had paid $10 a week for extra services of policemen on the dock. The French ball organ was the subject of Committee Detective Lemmon's evidence. Superintendent Byrnes, who was there, had not interfered to stop the disgraceful performance of the dancers. W. H. Jannett, agent of the Alvin Manufacturing company testified that Detective O'Connor of headquarters had demanded $270 for recovering property stolen from the company, but had compromised on $100. Vincent Majewski told of the way police dealers, of whom he was one, contrived to do business with the tacit consent of the police, and how certain dealers were favored over others.

LOYAL LEGION COMMANDERS.

They Hold a Successful Meeting in Philadelphia—A Minute on Curtin's Death.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The tenth annual meeting of the commandery-in-chief of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States was held in this city, nearly every state in the union being represented, and the meeting was a successful one.

Commander-in-chief Brigadier General Lucius Fairchild of Wisconsin presided. The session opened with prayer by Rev. Chaplain-in-chief, Dr. H. Clay Trumbull of this city. Reports of the various officers were submitted and the recommendations were accepted and adopted. A minute was then directed to be placed upon the journal on the death of ex-Governor Curtin, who was a member of the Pennsylvania commandery.

The committee on membership-at-large considered the applications for membership of staff officers who served during the war without commission and pay. The election of one, however, was recommended, he being Captain Lewis A. Stinson of New York. All other cases were postponed until the annual session on Oct. 10, 1905, which will be held at Washington, when the officers will be elected.

Tammany's County Ticket.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Tammany Hall county convention nominated the following ticket: For mayor, Nathan Straus; for president board of aldermen, Augustus W. Peters; for sheriff, William Scholmer; for recorder, Frederick Smith; for superior court judge, Charles H. Traux; for coroners, John B. Shea and Jacob Mittnacht.

ATLANTIC COAST GALE.

A Fierce Storm Sweeping the Northern Shore.

80 LIVES LOST NEAR ST. JOHNS.

Fifty Vessels Wrecked Along the Newfoundland Coast—Eight Killed and a Number Injured by a Building Being Blown Down in New York.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Oct. 11.—A north-east gale of exceptional force has swept over this island. The storm was severe at St. Pierre, Miquelon, where 30 lives were lost and great damage was done. A very heavy sea was running in the harbor. All the vessels at anchor there put out extra anchors and took other measures to outlive the gale, but notwithstanding this the maritime casualties were many. No less than 50 vessels dragged their anchors or parted their cables and were thrown upon the shore. Every effort made to claw off shore was fruitless, the gale blowing with such tremendous fury that even storm canvas could not be set. Some of the doomed vessels were thrown ashore in very exposed places, and the great seas, breaking over them, soon pounded them to pieces. No assistance could be rendered the shipwrecked men from the shore. A number of them, who jumped overboard and attempted to reach the shore by swimming, were drowned, while others were swept into the sea by the wave combing over their vessels and were not seen again until their bodies were cast upon the beach.

The wrecked vessels were part of the fishing fleet that had put into St. Pierre from the banks to repair damages they had sustained during the heavy storm of Sept. 30. Altogether there were nearly 300 vessels at the port, not a single one of which escaped without sustaining some damage. Several of the fleets are missing and grave fears are entertained that they have foundered during the storm.

THE BANKERS' ASSOCIATION.

Amendments to the National Banking Act to Be Suggested to Congress.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 11.—The American Association of Bankers, in convention here, will petition congress to adopt the following amendments to the national banking act, for the purpose of establishing a safe and elastic national currency:

Section 1.—The provision of the national banking act, requiring the deposit of bonds to secure circulating notes hereafter issued, shall be repealed.

Sec. 2.—All of the banks shall issue circulating notes to the amount of 50 per cent of their paid-up, unimpaired capital, subject to a tax of 1-2 of 1 per cent per annum upon the average amount of circulation outstanding for the year; and an additional circulation of 25 per cent of their paid-up, unimpaired capital, subject both to the tax of 1-2 of 1 per cent per annum and to an additional heavy tax per annum upon the average amount of such circulation outstanding for the year, said additional 25 per centum to be known as emergency circulation.

Sec. 3.—The tax on 1-2 of 1 per centum per annum upon the average amount of circulation outstanding shall be paid to the treasurer of the United States as a means of revenue, out of which the expenses of the office of controller of the currency, the printing of circulating notes, etc., shall be defrayed. The excess over 1-2 of 1 per centum of the tax imposed upon the emergency circulation shall be paid into the guarantee fund referred to in section 6.

Sec. 4.—The banks issuing circulation shall deposit and maintain with the treasurer of the United States a redemption fund equal to 5 per centum of their average outstanding circulation, as provided for under the existing law.

Sec. 5.—The redemption of the notes of all banks, solvent or insolvent, shall be made as provided for by the existing law.

Sec. 6.—Create a guarantee fund through the deposit by each bank of 2 per centum upon the amount of circulation received the first year. Thereafter impose a tax of 1-2 of 1 per centum upon the average amount of outstanding circulation, the same to be paid into this fund until it shall equal 5 per centum of the entire circulation of the United States, when the collection of such tax shall be suspended, to be resumed, whenever the controller of the currency shall deem it necessary.

The notes of insolvent banks shall be redeemed by the treasurer of the United States out of the guarantee fund, if it shall be sufficient, and if not sufficient, then out of any money in the treasury, the same to be re-imposed to the treasury, out of the guarantee fund, when replenished either from the assets of the failed banks or from the tax aforesaid.

Additional banking associations, organized after this plan shall have gone into operation, may receive circulation from the controller of the currency upon paying into the guarantee fund a sum bearing the ratio to the circulation for and allowed that the guarantee fund supplied bears to the total circulation outstanding, and to be subject to the tax of 1-2 of 1 per centum per annum, as called for by the treasurer of the United States for the creation and maintenance of this fund.

Sec. 7.—The government shall have a prior lien upon the assets of each failed bank and upon the liabilities of shareholders for the purpose of restoring the amount withdrawn from the guarantee fund for the redemption of its circulation not secured, however, the amount of the failed bank's outstanding circulation after deducting the sum to its credit in the redemption fund (section 4) already in the hands of the treasurer of the United States.

Sec. 8.—Circulation can be retired by a bank at any time upon depositing with the treasurer of the United States lawful money in amounts equal to the sum desired to be withdrawn, and immediately upon such deposit, the tax indicated in section 2, 3 and 6 shall cease upon the circulation so retired.

Sec. 9.—In the event of the winding up of the business of a bank by reason of insolvency, or otherwise, the treasurer of the United States, with the concurrence of the controller of the currency, may, on the application of the directors, or of the liquidator, receiver, assignee, or other proper officials, and upon being satisfied that proper arrangements have been made for the payment of the notes of the bank and any tax due thereon, pay over to such directors, liquidator, receiver, assignee, or other proper official, the amount at the credit of the bank in the redemption fund indicated in section 4.

MISS WILLARD TOO ILL TO TALK.

Lady Somerset Urges Christian Women to Take Interest in Politics—Lauded the Triumph of the Kentucky Women in the Ashland District—Ohio News.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—Miss Frances E. Willard was to have delivered a lecture at the convention of the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance union at the First Christian church in this city, but was barely able to be present.

Lady Henry Somerset spoke in Miss Willard's stead. She urged Christian women to take interest in politics and to secure power to vote. She lauded the triumph of the Kentucky women of the Ashland district for securing a victory for the principle of an equal standard of purity for men and women. A poliozing somewhat for speaking freely of American affairs, she said there was no nationality in this cause. It was broad as humanity and its only creed was "They will be done on earth as in heaven."

An Almost Fruitless Raid on Elias Henderson's House at Lima, O.

ALLIANCE, O., Oct. 11.—Two masked men battered down the door in the residence of Elias Henderson, a wealthy resident of Lima, five miles north of this city, with a log, and before Henderson could get out of bed had him covered with revolvers. They demanded $2,500, which Henderson had received Monday from the sale of property, and compelled Mrs. Henderson to open the safe in the room.

The money, however, had been deposited in a bank. The burglars got only $50 and some jewelry. Henderson, who has been in poor health, was so mistreated by the ruffians that he cannot live.

No Pure Wine Made in Ohio.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 11.—Deputy Commissioner Gus Luebberg, Inspector C. Rentrop, Attorney Amos Dye and Commissioner Fennell of Cincinnati have had a conference with Food Commissioner McNeal upon matters connected with the department. One matter taken up was the claim of the druggists that there is no pure wine produced in Ohio according to the standard established by the department. They also claim that as the California wine producers are permitted by act of congress to use distilled grapes in fortifying their wines, the Ohio producers are at a disadvantage. Dr. McNeal holds that he has no power to set aside the law; that the people of Ohio want pure goods, and all others should be labeled to show exactly what they are.

An Early Election Bet.

PEEBLES, O., Oct. 11.—A novel bet has been made and signed by Arthur Winslow, a farmer, and Howard Ellwood, a stock buyer. The price on most of the land leased is $20 per acre for the coal, and the options are for one year, the money paid to be forfeited by that time if the land is not taken. For what company Mr. Kinsey is taking options is not known to a certainty.

Covington Poolrooms Closed.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 11.—Owing to the Ohio prohibition laws the poolrooms have for years operated in Covington, Ky., but all the poolrooms across the river are now closed. A STRANGE CASE.

Death of a Young Lady After a Wonderful Mediumistic Performance.

The widest interest has been excited in Europe by the story of the death of a young lady, a member of a prominent family of this city, while under hypnotic influence in the hands of Neukomm, the well known hypnotist. She suffered much for several months from nervous headaches. Nothing could cure her but Neukomm putting her into a trance. The last affair was before a numerous audience. The first accounts of the affair were incorrect, but the later version, given by Dr. von Bragassy, who was present throughout, is almost incredible.

The experiment, it seems, has been one of spiritualistic trance rather than hypnotism. Dr. Bragassy says: "It was with the concurrence of her parents and the medium herself that the hypnotist Neukomm selected as the object of the experiment the condition of his brother residing in Werche, concerning which the opinion of physicians vary. In about 12 minutes the medium exclaimed, 'I am fast asleep.' The young lady gave signs of great excitement, which, according to her parents, had not been observed during previous experiments. Neukomm requested the medium to go and see his brother at Werche and say what was the nature of his illness and what cure should be adopted."

"What followed was really incredible. The medium began a scientific description of the invalid's lungs, giving a minute account of their diseased condition, with technical particulars which even an ordinary doctor could not give, and which might only be expected from an experienced specialist. With full command and correct use of technical expressions, she gave the closest details, extending to a full diagnosis of inflammation of the lungs, and declared the prognosis very unfavorable, as against that kind of disease medical skill is powerless. In conclusion she described the end of the patient in the usual Latin terminology, and immediately afterward she fell back senseless, uttering a piercing shriek."

"I at once had recourse to every conceivable means of restoring consciousness, but all in vain. Within eight minutes her pulse began to fail, and death shortly followed."

"According to the post mortem, the immediate cause of death was concussion of the brain."—Vienna Letter.

WANT WILLIAM'S WEALTH.

Two Italian Counts Who Claim to Be the Head of the House of Guelf.

A Berlin correspondent says that the German emperor has been cited to appear before the civil tribunal in Florence in virtue of article 142 of the civil code procedure of the kingdom of Italy, there to answer the complaint of Counts Giovanni and Raffaele Guelfi. These gentlemen claim to be the male heads of the royal German house of Guelf and heirs to property valued at many millions. They have not yet entered into particulars concerning their claim, and it is doubtful if the case will ever get beyond the present preliminary stage.

The counts profess to be very magnanimous in not claiming the Guelfic crown, which, they say, is clearly theirs. They will be content if Kaiser Wilhelm will disgorge the millions of which he is unjustly in possession, and they hint that they might be induced to listen to a compromise if the terms were sufficiently tempting.

This is not surprising, for these counts are, to put it mildly, in financial low water just now, and the richest man of the family, Count Guelfo, will not help them in their suit against the emperor. Count Guelfo is gaining an honest, if a plebeian, living as manager of a skating rink, and he declines to risk any part of his modest income in what he considers a fool's chase after a phantom fortune.

The Great Water Wheels at Niagara.

The water wheels are not all of the same size. Those employed in the transmission of power to the machinery of the paper mill were, when they were put in, the largest ever made. They were capable of generating as much as 1,000 horsepower each. But they are mere pygmies in comparison with those which are to supply power to the great dynamos. Each of these has been built with the purpose of developing as much as 5,000 horsepower, which is about the power required to drive an ordinary ocean steamship from 12 to 14 knots an hour. There are to be three of these mammoth turbines, and their hand-mills, the dynamos, are sympathetically colossal in their capacity to generate electricity.—McClure's Magazine.

The Hamiltons.

Women have had a strange influence in the affairs of the Hamilton family. Old Alexander got in numerous scrapes on account of the fair sex, and poor Robert Ray Hamilton was driven to a tragic death by his association with a scheming woman. Now Schuyler Hamilton, a brother of Robert Ray and a big swell at Newport, is being sued for divorce.—New York News.

Having Their Own Coffins Made.

Twins named McLean from Harnett county, N. C., 86 years old, visited Raleigh on Wednesday on a queer mission. This was to buy copper of which to have their coffins made. They are now in fine health and are the oldest twins in North Carolina. They were quaintly dressed, one having on a richly embroidered vest he has worn for 42 years.—Baltimore Sun.

Cheap Traveling.

The state railroads of Belgium, on which the cheapest fares in Europe are offered, have granted a new concession to travelers. They sell a third class ticket, good for any railroad in the country for two weeks, for $5 and a first class ticket for $10.—London Cor. New York Sun.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Isaac Fendersmith has removed with his family from Bulger, Pa., to this city.

A number from this city attended a lecture given in the Catholic church, Wellsville, last night.

The Daughters of Liberty, East End, initiated three candidates at their last regular meeting.

Favorite tent, Rechabites, held a special meeting last night to confer a degree on a number of members.

Jerry Lanning has removed to College street from the Diamond. He has resided in the Porter building.

Freight Agent J. V. Braden, of the Pan Handle railroad, was here from Wheeling this morning, calling on Agent Thomas.

A fire in Cleveland last night sufficed to tie up a number of trains bound for Wellsville, and No. 37 did not arrive until 10:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Sewing society, of the Second United Presbyterian church, will meet at the home of Mrs. James Elliott tomorrow afternoon.

The smoke stack on the boiler house at the Burgess Still works was blown down this morning. There was some fear of fire, but none occurred.

The crowd at the depot for the morning east bound train was enormous, and Agent Hill disposed of 210 tickets for the Pittsburgh exposition.

The man who kills dogs in order to even matters with some person to whom he is opposed, is around with his poison. Owen Cannon lost two valuable black and tan pups last night, but the name of the miscreant is unknown.

Passengers on a westbound street car were considerably excited last night by a war of words which sounded like light. Happily they did not witness a pugilistic mill, as one of the men got off at Walker's switch and the car pulled away and left him.

J. C. McClain was in the city yesterday and left this morning for Cleveland where the family will make their home. Mr. McClain has been residing in Salineville but will represent the brick works in the Forest City. The family are now visiting friends here.

Miss Minnie Quay left yesterday afternoon for Steubenville, where she will attend a meeting of the Ladies' Missionary society, of the United Presbyterian Presbytery, held in the church there last night and today. The young lady represents the First church of this city.

Bert Beaumont, the New Cumberland man charged by John Rinehart with horse stealing, will have a trial before Mayor Gilbert at the city hall tomorrow morning. He has retained Attorney J. H. Brookes, and it is expected that the case will prove a closely contested and interesting one.

Joseph Cassidy, the young man who fell down the elevator at Goodwin's yesterday morning is slightly improved today although much sorer than before. It is now evident that he sustained no internal injuries, and the attending physician expects his rapid recovery. He had a narrow escape.

During the rain and windstorm last night, a young man who did not leave his name and address, met with an accident in front of the News Review office. He was chasing his hat along the pavement when he fell against the curb. He injured his leg and arm badly, as was noticed when he finally got the hat and started for home.

A well known young man was heard to remark yesterday that he was going to wear goggles this winter to keep from seeing the "Close the Door" signs. He said that last winter it annoyed him so much that awake or sleeping he could see "the infernal sign" before his eyes, and it became a monster that almost drove him crazy. It is supposed that he shut the doors.

A moving wagon heavily laden was going down Broadway yesterday afternoon, when turning a corner it became overbalanced and the cargo toppled to the ground. It was scattered over the ground and when the driver of the wagon, after a half hour's work, got the articles in place again, he gazed sadly at the wreck of some of the furniture, and counted up how much he would be out.

Dr. W. M. Calhoun, of East End, returned last night from Steubenville, where he attended the regular meeting of the Eastern Ohio Medical association. A number of interesting papers were discussed, and the usual business transacted. The attendance at these meetings has not been so large since the formation of the East Liverpool association, and those who now attend act as delegates.

The unscrupulous nonentity, who can not spell and writes so poorly that an expert is required to read his senseless effusions, is abroad in the city. He delights in criticizing good people on a postal card, but like all cowards he neglects to sign his name. He is an institution whose presence is desired by none, and should he be suddenly whisked from the community there would be none to mourn his loss, and a less number to hope for his return.

That "Cork Man."

Herbert Cawthorn is a favorite with East Liverpool, and will make a pronounced hit tonight as the "Cork Man." Among the most pleasing specialties of the evening will be a song "And the Undertaker Did the Rest" by Cawthorn. It has given him a splendid reputation this season. Cawthorn, always good, was never better than at present.

There is no medicine so often needed to every home and so admirably adapted to the purposes for which it is intended, as Chamberlain's Pain Balm. Hardly a week passes but some member of the family has need of it. A toothache or headache may be cured by it. A touch of rheumatism or neuralgia quieted. The severe pain of a burn or scald promptly relieved and the sore healed in much less time than when medicine has to be sent for. A sprain may be promptly treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a cure in about one-third of the time otherwise required. Cuts and bruises should receive immediate treatment before the parts become swollen, which can only be done when Pain Balm is kept at hand. A sore throat may be cured before it becomes serious. A troublesome corn may be removed by applying it twice a day for a week or two. A lame back may be cured and several days of valuable time saved or a pain in the side or chest relieved without paying a doctor bill. Procure a 50 cent bottle at once and you will never regret it. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

War Relics.

Have you seen them? They are dandies. Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large foot sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle of Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Potts' drug store.

CARELESS ABOUT THE TEETH.

The Great Majority Are Negligent In This Important Matter.

Much has been and will be written on the care of the teeth because so many persons do not appreciate these valuable organs of mastication. If teeth are well cared for and regularly inspected by the dentist, decay will hardly have an opportunity to do great harm before it is stopped. Decay often has its beginning in bits of food sticking between the teeth and forming the starting point of a diseased tooth.

The toothpick should be used regularly after each meal and after eating. It need not necessarily be employed during a meal or be carried like a cigar in the mouth after eating, but in the privacy of one's room the quill toothpick should search out each corner and angle between the teeth, and all foreign matter should be removed; then the toothbrush should be used, and, as the spaces between the teeth are vertical in a standing person, so the toothbrush should be used up and down rather than across, so that fresh water may be scrubbed between each tooth.

The toothbrushes that shed bristles are not desirable articles of the toilet, for not only are the loose bristles a great annoyance, but they may even work in between the teeth and in the gums and cause painful points. Such loose bristles usually come from cheap brushes or those used for too long a time.

These injunctions about the care of the teeth have to be repeated again and again, because it is such a matter of everyday observance that persons careful in other matters are careless about their teeth. As the teeth are not only very visible, and when in a bad state very prominent, but are aids to digestion, and if imperfect may lead to dyspepsia and kindred troubles, they should be scrupulously cared for.—Popular Health Magazine.

WASHINGTON IRVING TO POE.

A Letter Full of Genial Criticism and Friendly Counsel.

Poe had through life the habit of sending his better tales and poems to distinguished literary men and soliciting thereby their attention, writes Professor George E. Woodberry in The Century in presenting some of Poe's unpublished correspondence relating to his residence in Philadelphia.

He kept the replies and was thus enabled to append to Hirst's biography of him in the Philadelphia Saturday Museum a long list of encomiums in addition to such as had been publicly made. The following letter from Washington Irving was written in acknowledgment of "William Wilson," which had followed the "House of Usher," as a means of introduction, and the substance of it, much altered and somewhat garbled, appeared in the list referred to and affords a striking instance of how Poe dealt with such correspondence.

NEWBURGH, Nov. 6, 1839.

DEAR SIR—The magazine you were so kind as to send me, being directed to New York, instead of Tarrytown, did not reach me for some time. This, together with an unfortunate habit of procrastination, must plead my apology for the tardiness of my reply. I have read your little tale of "William Wilson" with much interest. It is managed in a highly picturesque style, and the singular and mysterious interest is well sustained throughout. I repeat what I have said in regard to a previous production, which you did me the favor to send me, that I cannot but think a series of articles of like style and merit would be extremely well received by the public.

I could add for your private ear that I think the last tale much the best in regard to style. It is simple, in your first you have been too anxious to present your picture vividly to the eye, or too distrustful of your effect, and have laid on too much coloring. It is owing on the best side—the side of luxuriance. That tale might be improved by relieving the style from some of the epithets. There is no danger of destroying its graphic effect, which is powerful. With best wishes for your success, I am, my dear sir, yours respectfully,

WASHINGTON IRVING.

The Small Things.

"I don't think any nation pays more attention to military affairs than Germany," said a German citizen. "Things of seeming little importance connected with the army are investigated with the greatest pains. Many years ago the matter of boot heels was taken up. What height of heel was best for the infantry? A commission was appointed. One heel after another was tried, and a record of how far the soldiers could march a day in each was kept. Years piled on years, the commission carrying on the investigation with the care and exactitude of a chemical analysis. Constant improvements were made, and the distance an army could march in a day was thereby increased. At length the suggestion of a heel partly made of rubber was put forth. It was tried—instantaneous success! It was found that a regiment using such heels could march one-third farther a day and with less fatigue than when the investigation was begun. A small thing that to begin with, but what an important part the improved heel would play in a war!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The King of Plows.

The largest plow in the world perhaps is owned by Richard Gird of San Bernardino county, Cal. This immense sod turner stands 18 feet high and weighs 36,000 pounds. It runs by steam, is provided with 12 12-inch plowshares and is capable of plowing 50 acres of land per day. It consumes from 1 to 1 1/4 tons of coal per day and usually travels at the rate of four miles an hour.—St. Louis Republic.

A TRUTHFUL SAILOR.

RELATES THE EXPERIENCE IN WHICH HE SWORE NEVER TO LIE.

Two Seamen, Father and Son, Swallowed by a Shark, but Both Were Rescued in a Marvelous Manner—A Day That Was Certainly Very Hot.

"Have I ever seen a shark? Ask my mate—him that's rowing that 'ere couple out yonder. We were shipmates together aboard the Rajapootah Indianman. His father, who is dead and gone this 20 year or more, was carpenter aboard of her.

"Well, one day we were becalmed on the line, when, says young Bill—he was young Bill then, him as I just pointed out to you—says he, 'I shall have a swim round for a cooler,' for, believe me, the sun was that hot we had to throw buckets of water on the deck to keep it from catching fire.

"In fact, a pig we killed the day afore we hung aloft and roasted him in the sun, catching the gravy in a bucket, and he was done beautifully.

"So in he goes head first, with his clothes on, and me and his old man looked over the side just abaft the fore-rigging to see him come to the top of the water again.

"But no Bill could we see, and instead of him up came a tremendous shark, with his sides sticking out as if he had a cargo inside over and above his regular bill of lading.

"It was then as clear to us as the nose on our faces that poor Bill had dived clear down his throat.

"The poor old man had a fit right away, and we carried him below and put him in his hammock and then ran up on deck again in the hope that we should be able to catch the fellow.

"But it was nowhere to be seen, so after watching some time to no purpose we went down below to see how the old man was getting on, and to our astonishment and sorrow we found his body nearly cold and as stiff as the flying jibboom.

"We sewed him up in his hammock, putting the grindstone that he used to grind his tools with inside to make it sink and laid the body on a hatch, with the union jack spread over it for a pall. "Then the skipper read the funeral service, all of us standing round dreadfully cut up, me especially, for young Bill was my mesmate, and I was very fond of the old man.

"As soon as the skipper had finished the last words, which I shall never forget, they was so solemn, the hatch was tipped up, and overboard the body went with a splash, and all was over, at least we thought so.

"But almost immediately afterward up comes another shark, a bigger one, it seemed, than the first.

"The boatswain at once ran for the shark hook and baited it with a hunk of pork and shung it over the stern, and it was not many minutes afore we had him hooked and hauled on deck.

"Well, the first thing we did was to cut his tail off, for he was flapping it about so that it shook the ship from stem to stern, that we were afraid it would shake her to pieces.

"After we had done that we thought we heard a very strange noise inside of him—a sort of grating sound, like a boat being dragged over a shingly beach.

"So we set to and cut off his head and then ripped him up, when, to our great astonishment and delight, but Bill and his father sitting upright like two Jonahs, the youngsters turning the grindstone and the old man sharpening his knife, intending to cut their way out of the creature's belly.

"You say I said the old man was dead? Please don't interrupt me, and I'll tell you all about it.

"There's no doubt but what he seemed dead, but it was only his blood froze with horror, and the shark warned him to life again. What made him most uncomfortable, Bill said, was the slipperiness and topsy turvyness of the place, for there was no rest at all, for one minute he was standing on his head and the next on his feet, and then he would be tossed from one side to the other, sometimes getting jammed between the ribs, and he wondered the meal didn't disagree with the fish itself.

"But at last came the climax, and Bill thought it was all over with him, for down its throat was shot a heavy body like that of a sack of coal right atop of him, nearly smothering him, so that he had scarcely room to move or breathe, and he must have been some time insensible, he said, when he was woke up with a loud report.

"He thought for a moment the creature had swallowed a powder barrel and it had exploded, but it was only the bursting of the canvas shroud the old man was sewed up in, which had blown up like a paper bag.

"The noise in its inside, Bill said, must have astonished the shark, for he again found himself standing upon his head, so he knew it was making for the surface, and on reaching there it opened its enormous jaws for air, when a flood of light entered between the rows of teeth which enabled Bill on gaining his feet to take stock of his lodgings, and the very first thing that he saw was his old father crawling out from under the canvas like a chick from its shell.

"The old man had caught sight of the grindstone and soon put it into working order, and on the fish once more coming to the top and once saw what was in the wind, and they commenced business at once, when they were startled by a sudden change in the shark's movements, and soon they distinctly heard the sound of human voices, and they knew they were saved.

"Well, we all was so thankful at their miraculous escape from the jaws of death that every mother's son of us on board took our solemn affidavits that we'd never tell a lie or anything of that kind again, and me and my mate have kept our words ever since."—Chicago Times.

SYMME'S HOLE UP TO DATE.

A Call For Volunteers to Go to the Long Lost Babylonians In It.

That the crust of the earth is formed in layers no one will dispute, and that all substance on the surface of the earth is drawn by some force toward the earth's center is also undeniable. This is called centripetal force. To admit the existence of this force is equal to the admission of a counteracting force called centrifugal.

According to every experiment and all philosophical reasoning, there must be a line of equilibrium drawn somewhere between the center and the circumference of the earth. The exact location of this line will always be determined by the motion of the earth. It is on this line that the external and the internal forces meet in deadly conflict, striving for gravitations power and the enforcement of their laws. The friction produced by these two forces must be the source of all internal heat and the eternal fire. It is these two opposing forces that form and sustain the immense balance wheel called "the earth," which is 25,000 miles in circumference, but cannot exceed 200 miles in thickness, including the lava belt in the center.

The irregular motion of the earth will change the central line of gravity and cause an eruption of lava either external or internal. The earth when viewed as a whole is a unit, and so are the laws which operate it, whether applied to the external or the internal surface.

The law which reverses gravitation on this equalizing line has given us two earths in one, or a world within a world. The friction and heat of the earth at the equator are so much greater than they are at the poles that the law of electric equilibrium will produce an electric current to meet the demand for light and heat.

This internal earth is a counterpart of the external in all things, except its Atlantic and Pacific are not quite so vast, and its Nile and its Amazon are not quite so long. Neither is its equator nor its zones nor its poles quite so high. Nature, with an impartial hand, has withheld no good thing from this new world that can be tasted of by any other. Humanity here is as far removed from Darwin as Darwin is removed from the chosen seed of Adam's race.

Who shall defy the ice bound north and enter that "open sea" so long sought for and greet their long lost cousins who migrated from Babylon 3,000 years ago?—Floyd Hamblin in Utica Observer.

AMUSING THE QUEEN.

How Maids of Honor Are Selected and Some of Their Duties.

Maids of honor are chosen by the queen herself from among the daughters of peers, who, if not themselves connected with the royal household, are personal friends of her majesty. A letter is always sent to the parents of the young lady requesting that as a personal favor to the queen she may be permitted to attend at court. As the position is undeniable and the salary is £300 a year, the request is invariably accepted, and the newly chosen maid receives from the lord chamberlain the command for her first "wait."

The first thing brought to the maid of honor is her badge, which is a miniature picture of the queen set in brilliants and hung from a ribbon. Just before the dinner hour the maid of honor or in waiting has to stand in the corridor outside the queen's private apartments. She carries a bouquet, which on entering the dining room she lays at the right hand of the queen's plate.

The maid of honor sits at dinner next to the gentleman on the queen's right. This rule is, however, relaxed when royal guests are present. After dinner, unless otherwise commanded, the maid of honor retires to her own room, whence, however, she is frequently called to read, sing, play the piano or take a hand at cards.

As regards this last, the household have always to be provided with freshly coined money, for the queen is not supposed to handle money which has ever been in circulation.—New York Advertiser.

A Mean Revenge.

The man knocked at the door of a boarding house on Cass avenue, and the landlady opened it.

"I presume you are the landlady," he said after saying "Good morning!"

"Why do you presume that?" she asked, with a snap, for the visitor looked as if he might be some kind of an agent.

"A friend of mine, Mr. Smith, who used to board here, told me I'd recognize you as a lady of about 50."

She fairly gasped at this.

"Did he tell you that?" she inquired, with suppressed emotion.

"He did, madam."

"And you recognized me by that description?"

The visitor knew something about discretion being the better part of valor, having been an agent for a long time.

"I did not, madam," he responded.

"It's a good thing you didn't," she said.

"When I bounced that fellow Smith for not paying his bill for three months, he told me he would get even with me, and this is how he is doing it."

Then she bonneted the visitor.—Detroit Free Press.

"Never mind your method," returned the queen smilingly. "What we want is Shakespeare."—San Francisco Argonaut.
